██████████: Would love to be apart of this board if there are vacancies.

██████████: When are we going to have a board meeting about citizen and criminal accountability..??

██████████: I hope this board has fairness, which includes people who back the blue.

██████████: Video feed is not so good

██████████: Horrible feed

██████████: Just got passed by a red SUV going >70mph on rt4 right in front of a two sheriff's units (one praked the wrong way) speed trap. I thought for sure the car would be pulled over and ticked for wreckless driving, 15mph or more beyond the posted speed limit, and endangering everyone else on the road according to why we have speed limits posted to begin with. So when the two cops decided that their little conversation was more important than public safety on our roads, I remembered this "Police Accountability" and the justified pessimism displayed online toward it. I have to say, those two cops looked more comfortable than ever NOT doing their job and leaving the public they're sworn to protect and serve at the mercy of a "wreckless" driver. You don't just get to do your job when its convenient for you personally. That's called jackboot-ism, and is null and void in the eyes of any self-respecting American. I only wish I had my dashcam so I could send it in to this "board" to review. Great job...
